As best illustrated in FIG. 4, these deflectors 600R, 600L (FIG.25C) in combination with the shields 592R, 592L direct a portion of the liquid to impinge onto the inner surface of the front wall 602 of the recovery tank 53 and collect down on the bottom 601 of the recovery tank 53, thereby separating the liquid from the air and thus, minimizing the amount of water near the exhaust opening 560.
